

Together, we create excellence.
Join us!

KANSAI HELIOS is a successful international group engaged in the production and sale of paints, coatings, and synthetic resins. The Group comprises 44 companies in 25 countries, generating more than €700 million in annual sales.

At KANSAI HELIOS Slovenia, we invite you to join our team as:

Health and Safety Engineer (m/f/n)

We are looking for a Health and Safety professional to contribute to initiatives for identifying, assessing, and mitigating risks, ensuring a safe working environment, employee training, personal protective equipment, and compliance with legal requirements and internal company standards. Become part of a team where we value expertise, reliability, and a practical approach. We offer a role where safety and professional excellence are always our top priorities.

We invite you to explore how we create excellence within the KANSAI HELIOS Group.

If you recognize yourself in the above and meet the requirements outlined below, we invite you to join our Health and Safety team.

Key duties and responsibilities:

- » Performing the duties of an authorised occupational health and safety professional.
- » Monitoring the implementation of health and safety measures.
- » Establishing and maintaining the occupational health and safety system.
- » Preparing professional guidelines and instructions for ensuring safe work practices.
- » Conducting employee training on occupational health and safety.
- » Preparing documentation for the safety statement and risk assessments and conducting legally required periodic inspections.
- » Maintaining and managing required records, statistics, archives, and documentation.
- » Performing other tasks within the scope of work, in accordance with the employee's qualifications and the employer's instructions.

Requirements:

- » Bachelor's degree in occupational safety, chemistry, or another relevant field.
- » At least 3 years of relevant work experience.
- » Professional certification in occupational health and safety as required by Slovenian legislation.
- » Valid driver's license (Category B).
- » Fluent in Slovenian and good written and spoken command of English.
- » Good knowledge of MS Office tools (Excel, Word, PowerPoint, Outlook).
- » Ability to work independently as well as in a team.
- » Proactive mindset, strong organizational skills, and the ability to assess situations, make decisions, and take responsibility.
- » High level of integrity and impartiality.
- » Strong communication skills and ability to motivate and work with people.

Together, we create excellence. Join us!

KANSAI HELIOS is a successful international group engaged in the production and sale of paints, coatings, and synthetic resins. The Group comprises 44 companies in 25 countries, generating more than €700 million in annual sales.

We offer:

- » Permanent employment contract with a 6-month probation period, full-time.
- » Good work-life balance.
- » A stimulating, development-oriented, and dynamic work environment.
- » Work in an international environment and collaboration with experts within the KANSAI HELIOS Group.
- » Structured onboarding.
- » Additional collective health insurance.
- » Supplementary pension insurance.
- » Annual performance bonus.
- » Holiday allowance and Christmas bonus.
- » Opportunities for professional and personal development within the KANSAI HELIOS Academy.
- » Employee discounts in our stores.
- » Free parking.
- » Meals provided in the canteen.
- » Events for employees' children.
- » The KANSAI HELIOS Sports Association with a wide and diverse range of sports activities.
- » Informal social events aimed at strengthening positive interpersonal relationships.

Work location: Domžale, Slovenia

Please submit your application, including your CV in Slovenian and English, via email to valerija.pipan@kansai-helios.si no later than 30 June 2026.

All applications will be treated confidentially.